

COMM 444 – Communication Internship

Course Code COMM-444	Course Title Communication Internship	Credits (ECTS) 3
Department Communications	Semester Fall/Spring	Prerequisites Graduate Standing
Type of Course Major Requirement	Field Communications	Language of Instruction English/Greek
Level of Course 1 st Cycle	Year of Study 4th	Lecturer Faculty members
Mode of Delivery Face-to-Face	Work Placement Relevant to subject	Co-requisites None

Objectives of the Course:

- To give the students the opportunity to produce a study of media practice in Radio or Television, Journalism or Corporate Communication.
- To afford the student a chance for professional discipline, competence and procedure.

Learning Outcomes:

On completion of this programme, the student will be able to:

1. Adjust and work in a professional setting connected with his or her academic studies.
2. Write a comprehensive report about the knowledge and expertise gained during the Internship and the applications of the academic knowledge and background of the student to the job conducted during the Internship period.

Course Contents:

Developing and understanding of the contextual, economic, institutional, ideological, technical and distribution determinants of the institution in which the internship will take place.

Learning Activities and Teaching Methods:

As determined by the supervising lecturer, in the light of the internship requirements.

Assessment Methods:

A written document of about 2,000-3,000 words

Required Textbooks:

Textbooks suggested By supervising faculty
--	--	--	--	--