Objectives of the Course:

This course will assess issues, problems and prospects in the process of deepening and enlargement of the European Union. It will examine the recent developments in the European Union, the Treaty of Lisbon and its implications as well as current socio-economic problems. It will also cover the issues of, a common defense policy, the institutional problems and the direction of enlargement of the European Union.

The course will not be confined to EU issues alone, but a broader European perspective will be taken, by addressing issues such as the crises in Kosovo and Georgia, NATO enlargement, as well as Euro-Atlantic relations. In other words, the EU will not be treated as an isolated system, but it will be rather integrated in the wider international arena, by viewing it from a broader global perspective.

Learning Outcomes:

After completion of the course students are expected to be able to:

- 1. Argue and present an analysis and evaluation of various current European issues (e.g. EU enlargement policy, ratification and implementation of the Lisbon Treaty, NATO enlargement policy, EU-Russian relations, EU-US relations, energy security, immigration, sustainable development, aging societies, etc.).
